

Horses, Carriages, &c.

ONE WAY TO SAVE TIME
WITHOUT ADDITIONAL COST
YOU MAY LEAVE YOUR
ADVERTISINGMENT
AT AN
AMERICAN BENTLEY MESSENGER
Office, if in our list of Advertising Agencies you do not find one convenient.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

J. M. QUINBY & CO.
OF
NEWARK, N. J.,
MAKERS OF FINE CARRIAGES.

BREAKS, VICTORIES,
and CABRIOLETS,
IN ALL SIZES, OF THE LATEST FASHION.
Carriages called for and delivered without charge.

WAREHOUSES AND FACTORY—Opposite the Broad at Station, D. L. and W. R. R., Newark, N. J.

Christopher or Barney M. Ferry.

OBITUARY.

George Lovett Kingsland of 430 Fifth avenue died of Bright's disease yesterday at his country place at Bayloun. He was born in this city sixty-six years ago, and was the second son of Ambrose C. Kingsland, who was elected Mayor of New York in 1849. Ambrose C. Kingsland and his brother, Daniel, were extensively engaged in shipping and in real estate transactions, and each accumulated a fortune. When Ambrose C. Kingsland died, in 1878, he bequeathed his estate to his eight children, Ambrose C. George L., Cornelius K., Harry Walter E., Albert, and daughters, now Mrs. H. La Roy Jones and Mrs. Van W. Tompkins. Each of this property consists of real estate in Tarrytown, New York, and a fine, handsome residence, which was surrounded by a beautiful park. The property has never been divided, and George L. Kingsland is the sole owner.

[illegible]

Wedding took place on Oct. 27 at the home of the daughter, the wife of the Rev. Aaron Leach, 124 Madison avenue. The Rev. Charles Robinson, then of the Thirteenth street Baptist, German Church, officiated. Mrs. Child was married for the first time in Germany a few weeks ago. They were to return on Sept. 3.

The announcement of the death of Manager Benjamin Nathan on Wednesday night at his home in this city was a surprise to many. He was not known to be seriously ill, but had been ill for some time.

Before Nathan became a theatrical manager he made a fortune in the lottery business. His first wife, who died in 1880, was the daughter of a manager of the first Italian opera company that appeared in this city. He made money afterward as a theatrical agent, and was knighted by "Baron Rodolph" and "Over the Sea" as "Baron Rodolph."

Interested before this in Charles White's ministrations, Nathan was 10 years old and prominent in the choir of the German church of his earliest members and for many years a trustee. He leaves a widow and three sons and a daughter, all of whom are in the city.

Under the direction of the New York Lodge of Elks.

John and Melbrough Longing, wife of Dr. John Longing, died at their residence, 571 Park avenue, on Wednesday after a lingering illness. She was born in New York city, and was educated at Westchester on Jan. 8, 1890. When she was a year old her parents moved to this city, where she attended the public schools. She was confirmed by the N. E. Church in John Street, and was associated with Harriet Bartine in the old First Baptist church. She was a member of the school was in Chatham street and the New York. She was married to Dr. Longing over sixty years ago, and has been actively engaged in church and social work. Her father-in-law, John's father was a cousin of Commodore Melbrough. She leaves a daughter, who is the wife of Dr. J. H. Latz, a retired leather merchant of this city.

John D. Robertson, ex-Secretary of State, died at his home in New Haven yesterday morning. He was born in New York, and grew up in Charleston, S. C., and was graduated Harlan, a medical doctor in England, and from the latter a member of the Connecticut House of Representatives from New Haven in 1841, and was postmaster at New Haven from 1849 to 1853, and Mayor from 1880 to 1882. He was the father of Hamilton Willson Merrill, a veteran of the Florida and Mexican wars, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 129 East Sixth street, of West Point, N. Y., at the age of 72 years, at 10 o'clock, on Feb. 14, 1814. He was graduated at West Point in 1836, and served through the Mexican war, and was promoted to the rank of the Second United States Dragoon. He retired in 1866, and in 1867 married Miss Louisa J. F. W. Merrill, Assistant State Geologist.

J. W. B. Dohler, President of the West Side

John Anthony, son of the late William Henry Anthony, the lawyer, died yesterday, in his 34th year, at the residence of his mother, 135 East Madison street. He was a member of the firm of J. & M. H. Moert, Haggin & Co., importers of wine, and later in the office of the Illinois Central Railroad. He was a member of the Episcopal church of the Holy Trinity. The funeral will be on Monday.

Thomas A. Maister, who died on Monday last, was a native of New York, was a member of the firm of Maister, Maister & Co., and was for many years a resident of Lincoln, where he was connected with the mercantile business. He was a member of the Episcopal church of St. John, and was a member of Maine's famous "count-

Dr. A. S. Curtis died at his home, 34 East twenty-second street, on Thursday at the age of 63 years. He was born in England, in 1793 and came to America nearly forty years ago. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter, and five grandchildren.

Gerhard Lang, the wealthy brewer and hotelkeeper, who was elected to the thirty-second Congress district, died in Buffalo yesterday morning of cancer of the stomach.

A cablegram received in Buffalo yesterday announces the death in Carlsbad, Germany, last Sunday, of Whitney A. Chase, proprietor of a large sheet iron and copper works in Buffalo.

John H. Dobbins, an old New London county resident, died yesterday, aged 75 years. He had been for many years a prominent Democratic politician and had held many offices.

W. C. Wymans, General Baggage Agent of the New Shore Railroad Company, died at Tappan, New York, yesterday morning. He was 61 years of age.

Andrew Steen, a retired grocer, died yesterday at 448 Warren street, Brooklyn, in his 82d year.

Joseph Murphy, First Lieutenant of Company B, Sixty-ninth Regiment, formerly a customs inspector, died on Wednesday.

George Easton, who has occupied many prominent positions, died at Cordonia, Ind., yesterday, aged 83 years.

Antim R. Forsch, President of the First

George Johnson, aged 75, brother of the late every Johnson, died yesterday in Annapolis.

---

EXTRACT OF VIOLET
AND MANY OTHER ODORS OF EX-TRAORDINARY FRAGRANCE.
Put Up in 6 oz. Bottles, 50 Cts. Each.
We warrant our goods to be the best, and agree to refund the price paid for any article which does not prove satisfactory.

George Kneuper, Druggist,
928 Broadway, Near Warren.